

In reality, no plant can be said to be truly rabbit proof – the best we can wish for as landscapers is rabbit resistant!! On the whole rabbits dislike plants with strong aromatic properties, tough leaves, spines and milky sap. We have listed below some easily available plants that have shown resistance to the pesky varmint!! However some new growth may be eaten as younger rabbits ‘test the water’. The other alternatives are rabbit fencing or a man with a shotgun and tasty pie!!!!
